#MYDIGITALWORKFORCE WEEK WILL EXTEND BY A WEEK TO SUPPORT MALAYSIANS WHO ARE LOOKING FOR JOBS

- #MyDigitalWorkforce Week kicked off with multiple webinars and satellite events that address surge in demand for career opportunities and skill development
- Many participants are drawn to the talks and opportunity to find out more about the 5,000+ digital jobs that are available in more than 100 companies

CYBERJAYA, 27 August 2020: #MyDigitalWorkforce Week, which began as a five-day event that runs from August 24-28, 2020, will be extended until September 4, 2020 to ensure adequate support is provided to job-seekers. This is specifically for Malaysian youths and the unemployed.

The #MyDigitalWorkforce Week, which packed this entire week with a slew of exciting and insightful activities, even included the very popular Digital Jobs Expo. This platform, already curating more than 5,000 digital jobs that are made available in more than 100 companies, is one of the main driving factors for this extension. Its list of prospective careers in the digital economy includes roles in related tech-based industries. Some of the organisations that took part are DHL, Motorola Solutions, AirAsia, Lenovo, TNG Digital and DIALOG.

“Closing off registrations at this stage may mean fewer Malaysians can benefit from the Digital Jobs Expo. The jobs that are being actively curated on this platform are digital- and tech-based roles along with non-digital positions within tech-related businesses. Additionally, RM1 million worth of free training has been availed for this content-packed #MyDigitalWorkforce Week and we are happy to see members of the workforce, even students, being able to benefit from this,” shared Dr. Sumitra Nair, Vice President, Digital Talent Development, MDEC.

While 5,000 jobs are what MDEC has collated and is now sharing to a hungry workforce, there are other opportunities that Malaysian talents can tap onto. This includes career prospects that are shared on LinkedIn and MyFutureJobs.

This event is in line with MDEC’s strategic priority to increase the number of digitally-skilled Malaysians who are then able to contribute to Malaysia’s digital economy. Currently, Malaysia continues to accelerate towards being a digital society as it fast approaches the era of the Fourth Industrial Revolution.
